Navy craft to be displayed at Durgadi

STAFF REPORTER
Thane

The Indian Navy and Smart Kalyan Dombivli Development Corporation Limited (SKDCL) have signed a pact to display the decommissioned Indian Naval Fast Attack Craft T-80 (INFAC T-80) at Durgadi Fort in Thane district to commemorate the 365th anniversary of the establishment of Maratha Navy which was established by Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, officials said on Friday. The Memorandum of Understanding was signed on Wednesday, said an official of SKDCL.

The decommissioned boat will be displayed permanently at Durgadi Fort, perched atop a hill near Kalyan – then an important naval post overlooking the Thane creek – as a memorial at Durgadi Sea Fort the Navy said. The T-80 memorial will be part of the Naval Gallery Campus at SKDCL's Riverfront Development Project, with an aim to spread sea consciousness among people, the official of the SKDCL added. INFAC T-80 – built by IAI Ramta in Israel – was commissioned on June 24, 1998, and decommissioned on October 7, 2021, after rendering stellar service of 23 years. The vessel was specifically designed for shallow water operations and patrolled extensively to provide security to Mumbai High Offshore Development Area and the coast of Maharashtra.

“Even after decommissioning, T-80 will continue serving the country and inspire Indian youth visiting the Naval Museum at Durgadi Fort, Kalyan. The memorial will also showcase the state's rich maritime history, especially the roles played in it by the Maratha Navy and the Indian Navy,” the Navy added.

The Indian Navy had previously erected the decommissioned warship ex-Prabal at EsselWorld in the north-western part of Mumbai. Earlier this year, the Navy and the Uttar Pradesh government signed an MoU to keep alive the legacy of INS Gomati – a Godavari class guided-missile frigate – which had been in service for 34 years. The frigate has been displayed in an open air museum on the picturesque banks of the Gomati river in Lucknow, where several of its combat systems will be displayed as military and war relics.

Give row house or refund with interest, directs commission

STAFF REPORTER
Mumbai

The State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission (SCDR) has directed Andheri-based developers to provide a row house after accepting the balance amount within one month of the order or give a refund with 8% interest from April 2011 till the date of payment. The commission further directed that Rs30,000 be paid for mental agony and litigation costs.

The order dated October 20, 2022, was given on a complaint by Samant Kumar Singh and Chhaya S Singh – residents of Nalasopara (east) – against Sapphire Space Infracon Pvt Ltd and Sri Ram Land Development India Pvt Ltd. It was given by SCDRC Mumbai Suburban

The delivery was scheduled for March 2011, but the date was pushed to 2012, followed by 2015 and finally 2020

president RG Wankhade and members Preethi Chamikutty and Shradha M Jalana-purkar. One of the parties that were involved in the case was removed due to an earlier order of the commission and the complainants were told they are free to pursue a case against them separately.

The Singhs had booked a row house in Sathanagar (Palghar) in March 2010 and the delivery was scheduled for March 2011. However, the date was pushed for one reason or the other from 2012 to 2015, and then finally to 2020. While booking the flat, the duo had paid Rs2.51 lakh as the booking amount and were staying on rent at that time. The complainants also provided copies of leave and license agreements prepared from time to time and the number of times they had to change their house in the interim period.

One of the opponents said the delay in filing of the complaint by the Singhs has not been explained well and hence it needed to be dismissed. However, the commission noted that the complainants were harassed not only on account of not getting the row house but also because they had to look for a new place from time to time and had to pay rent too.

CR to create more space for local commuters

KAMAL MISHRA / Mumbai

Local commuters of Central Railway (CR) will get more space on platforms of major suburban stations in the near future. In the first phase, platforms five and six of Thane station and platform number two and three of Kalyan station will be decongested. The newly appointed divisional railway manager of CR's Mumbai division, Rajnish Kumar Goyal is also working on decongesting platforms at Dadar. Work is expected to be completed by March 2023.

“For immediate relief, 18 pairs of long-distance trains have been shifted to other platforms and 10 more pairs, currently handled at platforms 5-6 of Thane will be shifted to platforms 7-8 to create more space for suburban passengers,” said Mr Goyal.

NMMC begins supply of treated water to six industrial units on pilot basis

AMIT SRIVASTAVA / Navi Mumbai

The Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation (NMMC) has started supplying recycled water to six industrial units located in Turbhe of the Trans Thane Creek (TTC) industrial area from the tertiary-level sewage treatment plant (STP) at Koparkhairane. The civic body is now in talks with other industrial units to supply treated water which can be used, except for consumption.

In order to supply recycled water to industrial units, the civic body laid a 53.134km long pipe network between Washi and the Koparkhairane

STP. Meanwhile, the work on another tertiary-level STP in Airoli is in the last stage.

The newly constructed Koparkhairane STP has the capacity to recycle up to 20 million litres per day (MLD) of sewage water. At present, 6MLD is generated from this tertiary plant and supplied to six industrial units in Turbhe MIDC on an experimental basis. NMMC Commissioner Rakesh Narvekar has directed the civic engineering department to contact industrial units and supply the remaining recycled water.

“The recycled water from secondary treatment in the state-of-the-art STP is being

Industrial units have shown interest to buy recycled water from NMMC as it works out cheaper than procuring water from MIDC processed using advanced technology such as ultra-filtration and ultraviolet exposure to produce recycled water of a standard that can be used by industries,” said an official. He added that the civic body has also constructed water reservoirs at Mhape, Turbhe and Nibban Hill in Rabale having a capacity range of 0.075million litres to 2.5million litres.

According to senior civic officials, a number of industrial units have shown interest to buy treated water from NMMC as it works out cheaper than procuring water from the MIDC. At present, the industrial units in the TTC area get water from the MIDC at Rs22.50 per cubic meter and a total of 50MLD of water is supplied per day. However, the civic body will provide water with tertiary-level treatment at Rs18.50 per cubic meter. The civic body expects to churn out around Rs494 crore in the next 15 years through this endeavour.
