Guess Who?
BOARD GAMES
 GUESS WHO is an entertaining board game designed to be played by two persons at a time.
 The Guess Who board contains faces of 24 cartoon characters and their first names. Both the players begin the game by selecting a card each from a set of cards that contain the same 24 characters. Players take turns in flipping the cards and ask various types of 'yes' or 'no' questions to identify the character on the opponent's card. Some of the common questions asked are: 'Is your person a man?' 'Does he/she wear glasses?' 'Is he/she a blonde?' As players sift through the cards and ask questions to each other, they begin to narrow down the possibilities. The player who guesses the character on the opponent's card first is the winner.
 Apart from offering hours of pure fun, Guess Who helps in honing one's deductive reasoning skills.
 • Special editions of the game feature faces of popular Disney, Marvel Comics and Star Wars characters.

GUIDING LIGHT
The centre of spirituality lies in nature
 - Rajesh Mohan Rai
 Nature has an innate ability to be infused with spirituality. Jungles, open water bodies, lakes, rivers, hills and mountains, invoke a serene feeling of divine and inspire a sense of admiration. These are a few natural resources that we often use to connect with our inner core.
 We get several opportunities in our lifetime to learn from nature the skill of creating a fine balance between opposing forces. Spirituality, the experience of one's own inner core, nature deep within, provides the key to this critical relationship with oneself, with others around us and with our own environment.
 Many spiritual gurus believe that when we around nature, we are more alert and aware, leading to heightened mindfulness for ourselves. Being in nature improves mindful awareness, it also improves the balance between body and mind. It makes us feel relaxed. It magnifies many folds the depth in our relationship with nature.
 Practicing spirituality in a peaceful, natural environment provides opportunities for deepening our spirituality and nurturing our relationship with nature's creations including self.
 Our own vision or understanding of nature and spirituality depends upon our worldview. We become more conscious of our worldview when something strange or shocking happens to us when an incident, event or accident disrupts our daily routines.
 Emotionally powerful/ draining life events makes us ponder fundamental questions about ourselves and the world around us. These events provide us the opportunity to reflect on our worldview, question it, and help us either to modify it or affirm it. Exploring our worldview puts us in close touch with our deep beliefs that constitute our spirituality.
 We human beings co-relate spirituality and nature in different ways. We think nature and spirituality are equally 'sacred', and to experience the sacredness, we bask in nature. In different religions across the globe, nature plays a key role in respective rituals and beliefs. Hence, it proves that the key to attaining spirituality lies in nature!
